

Are you getting the most out of your operations?

Remote Control System is loaded with so many sophisticated features that you may overlook some of them, hence losing great opportunities to enhance your operations and get more results.

Let us remind you the advantages of working with Remote Control System Galileo!

Discover the interactions

In your daily operations you commonly deal with multiple targets, and the amount of information can be overwhelming. It is crucial that you have all the tools to unveil your targets' intent and discover the network behind them, without going through every single bit of information.

With Remote Control System you immediately see all the interactions: follow their movements during the day, see how they communicate and with whom and discover their habits. Furthermore, you are informed upon interesting events like meetings and key communications!

Watch how your targets communicate with their peers.

Understand links among targets and meeting places, both physical and virtual (e.g., web forums).

Automatically profile the digital identity of your targets, to readily have:

- all the accounts
- top communications
- last known position

Analyse the behaviours and mechanisms common to different cases and criminal networks, to further expand your investigation.

Get trained on the latest security techniques

Your team is the most precious resource to get the job done. Invest on their skills and let them use the latest techniques! You'll see the difference, granted.

We offer trainings at all levels and in all security fields:

- IT intrusion
- Network and web pentesting
- Vulnerability detection and exploitation
- Advanced wireless pentesting
- Reverse engineering

We can also design custom training programs to match your needs. Ask for information.

All of our instructors have current experience on real cases, and they continuously research and experience the topics they teach.

Training have a strong bias toward hands-on tests and challenges, to let you learn by doing.
